

P R
4881
.M5
1902
COPY 2

Mr Sun and

Mrs Moon

By Richard

Le Gallienne

Class PR4881

Book M5

Copyright N<sup>o</sup> 1902
copy 2

COPYRIGHT DEPOSIT.

Mr. Sun and Mrs. Moon

Mr Sun and
Mrs Moon

By Richard
Le Gallienne

Mcccii.
New York R. H. Russell

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY ROBERT HOWARD RUSSELL

PR 4881
.M5
1902
copy 2

First impression October, 1902

RE
C
E
I
V
E
D

A small, faint stamp consisting of a grid of dots forming the word "RECEIVED" vertically.

To Eva

Eva, we were so glad you came,
For life is such a lonely game
With only one to play it, dear—
As Hesper found for six long year ;
But now the games you have, you two !
We are so glad you came—are you ?

To Hesper

H

ESPER, I sang these songs
In her dear stead,
Who should have crooned them
To thy golden head;
Not these, indeed, but other—
For ill, dear child,

A father plays a mother.

Yet for her holy sake,
Who sits with Him

Our God in Heaven,
I made each little hymn;

Sing them sometimes
For love of her and me,

Thee would she rather hear
Than all the cherubim.

Mr. Sun

Mr. Sun

DADDY, do we know the sun?

Is he a friend of ours?

For he walks about the garden

Kissing all the flowers,

And in the morning, long before

The servants have gone down,

He's peeping through the window,

All dressed to go to town.

And then again at evening

He's peeping as before,

He's prettier at evening

And shines a good deal more;

I never saw a gentleman

So very gaily dressed,

For, every time I see him,

He seems to wear his best.

I wish you'd ask him in to tea,

I'd love to see him shine

On you, dear Dad, light up your face

As sometimes he does mine;—

For somehow, Dad, he never seems

To shine upon you, dear—

Don't you care about him, Daddy?

Don't you want to ask him here?

Mrs. Moon

Mrs. Moon

HY do you love the moon
so much,
Daddy dear?
She seems so cold, and O
so far

Away from here;
She frightens me so lonely there
Up in the skies;
And then she has so white a face,
And such sad eyes!

Nurse says she is so sad because
The Sun has run away;
He was her husband once, and loved
Her very much, they say;
But fell in love with Widow Earth
And little Mars,
And left some silver—for the Moon
To keep the stars.

So when, of course, I think of that
I'm sad for her,
And sometimes pray for Mrs. Moon
A little prayer:

Mrs. Moon

That her bad husband may repent
The wrong he's done—
And yet I can't believe it, Dad,
Of Mr. Sun!

Mr. Sun's Story

Mr. Sun's Story

I ASKED the sun to-day
If it were true—
About the moon, you know,—
And he looked through
The window, and he said
It was a lie!

And told me this instead:
That long ago
The moon and he were wed,
And used to go
With happy hand in hand
Both to and fro
Morning and evening skies;
But, one sad day,
The silver moon fell ill
And died away,
And never more will go
Together they,
And never more will go
Bright hand in hand,
And never more will walk
The same sweet land.
He said that he would give

Mr. Sun's Story

His whole blue sky,
If he could only see her once—
And die;
Just kiss each baby star
Upon its cheek;—
For that is all, he says,
He shines to seek.

It does seem sad
That he so long has shone
For others' joy, but has not Found his own.

Baby Stars

Baby Stars

THE souls of little girls who die
God sets up shining in the sky,
But what becomes of little boys
I ask of Nurse, and she replies—
That little boys are born without:

Just born to scuffle and to shout,
To play rough games, hit hard and die.

I'm glad I'm not a little boy!

I think I'd like to be a star,

If God would set me not too far

Away from Daddy, so that I

Might send him kisses from the sky,

And shine upon his bed at night

With such a lovely little light;

And if he felt too lonely there,

I'd unwind all my golden hair

And make a little shining stair

For him to climb and sit by me—

O Dad, how lovely that would be!

And perhaps, if I asked God for you,

He'd change you to a star, dear, too.

Daddy

ADDY'S quite a lover still,
His step upon the stair
Is wonderful and waited for;
His voice upon the air
Is sweeter than the sound of drums,

Trumpet or battledore;
They cease when Daddy comes.

Yet Daddy only knows two tales
And only half a song,
Yet somehow I could listen to him
All day long;
If Daddy but says 'Tum-ti-tum,'
It seems a song to me,
For Daddy—well, he's Daddy,
Just Daddy, don't you see?

You never heard such pretty songs
As Nursie sings to me,
You never heard such pretty tales
As Amy tells to me,
But I'd rather hear old Daddy
With his poor old 'tum-ti-tum'
Than Amy, Nurse, or trumpet,
Or battledore, or drum.

A Busy Day

A Busy Day

[Translated from the Danish]

WHERE has baby been to-day!
And what has baby seen to-day!
She saw the Moo-Cow, and she heard

The pretty little Dicky-Bird,
She heard the Cock-a-doodle-doo,
She heard the Pussy-Cat say 'Mew,'
She heard the Donkey say 'Hee-Haw'—
So much and more she heard and saw.
She also heard the Gee-Gee neigh—
O baby, what a busy day!

When Eva Talks

WHEN Eva talks and knows
all that I say
O won't that be a most exciting day!
When Eva talks,
When Eva walks—
O won't that be a most exciting day!

I am afraid we'll sit up long past seven—
I have so much to ask her about heaven.

When Eva talks,
When Eva walks—
I am afraid we'll sit up long past seven!

Six and Eleven

Six and Eleven

THE six means six long changing years
Of playing with my toys,
A little lonely girl that saw
No other girls or boys;

Till Eva came to play with me
All the long way from heaven;
Eleven months ago she came—
So Eva is eleven.

Sometimes I look at her and think
Of all she must go through,
Before she talks and walks about
The same as me and you.

Her teeth are trying her just now,
Two in the bottom row—
She finds no interest in life
And longs to die I know.

But, though she cannot see it now,
This trouble will go by,
And she be very happy yet
And glad she did not die.

Six and Eleven

We love each other very much,
And, now that she is here,
I often wonder how I played
Alone so many a year.

Of course, there still is much in life
She cannot understand;
But give her time! she's but eleven—
And has just learned to stand.

A Star-Sister

A Star=Sister

I HAVE a little sister
In yonder star,
I'd climb up there to kiss her
But it is so far;
I hear her calling me
Many a night,
Just after Nursie
Puts out the light.

Evening Song

THE sun is weary, for he ran
So far and fast to-day,
The birds are weary, for who sang
So many songs as they?

The bees and butterflies at last
Are tired out, for just think too
How many gardens through the day
Their little wings have fluttered through;
And so, as all tired people do,
They've gone to lay their sleepy heads
Deep deep in warm and happy beds.
The sun has shut his golden eye,
And gone to sleep beneath the sky,
The birds and butterflies and bees
Have all crept into flowers and trees,
And all lie quiet, still as mice,
Till morning comes,—little father's voice!
So Geoffrey, Owen, Phyllis, you
Must sleep away till morning too.
Close little eyes, lie down little heads
And sleep, sleep, sleep in happy beds.

The Buying of Marguerite

The Buying of Marguerite

HEN Father and Mother went to buy
A little girl up in the sky,
An angel bade them take their choice

Of many little girls and boys:
They really didn't want a boy—
They thought a girl was sweeter far,
O yes! a hundred times more sweet:
Though they were tempted very sore
By a most cunning little lad,
Who since has come to live next door,
And often plays with Marguerite.
Yes! Marguerite—for, though they took
Quite a long time to look and look—
For you can easily understand
You don't buy little girls off-hand—
They very soon made up their mind,
And thus was Marguerite assigned,
And sent celestial express,
To her terrestrial address.
Now it is seven years ago—
For Marguerite to-day is seven—
Since Marguerite came down from heaven,
About a quarter to eleven;

The Buying of Marguerite

She cried a little leaving there,
But the angel said she needn't care,
Because where she was going to
It was a kind of heaven too.

And though it is so long ago
Since Marguerite came in the snow,
I think if I should want to know
The way to heaven any day—
Well! I'd ask Marguerite the way.

Little Feet

Little Feet

LITTLE feet that all day long
Make a lovely little song,
Up above me to and fro
Weaving fairy-rings you go;

Little feet whose patterings small
Sweeter than the raindrops fall
When each raindrop in a shower
Falls, to rise again a flower,
In the merry days of spring.

I have heard your mother sing,
Nothing else have heard so sweet
Save the prattle of your feet;

Little feet that run and run
And never have enough of fun,
Little feet so pearly white
That hate to go to bed at night.

Ah! though merry day be done,
In my heart you run and run
Far into the quiet night—
Childless, lonely, listening night—
Sowing, little fairy feet,
Many a tear-flower pale but sweet,
Though within your quiet cot
You sleep, O my Forget-Me-Not.

Fatherhood

Fatherhood

I HEARD a star at morning
sing—
A little soft six-sided star;
It seemed to sing of everything
Impossible and pure and far.

I said: if only I might live
A little nearer to that ray,
If only I might climb to it
A little nearer every day.

God said: there is a way less hard,
That star is not so undefiled
As one that shall be born to you—
The spirit of a little child.

O little star that came to me
Out of those heights and depths of blue—
Nearer remains that morning star
Than you to me, than me to you.

Bed-Time

Bed-Time

LAST night I slept with Marguerite,
A little girl of six years
old,
This was her invitation sweet:

“Daddy, please may I—I’m so cold
In my own cot—please may I creep
Into your bed to-night to sleep?”

And so she came, and long we told
Of fairies, and of kings and queens
With crowns O! of such shining gold,
Of Jacks and giants and of beans—
And then at last, tired hand in hand,
We dropped off into fairyland.

I thought that someone, while I slept,
Brought violets with stems of dew,
And pressed them on my eyes and mouth;
I woke—and, Marguerite, ’twas you!
I dreamed—“What is that music sweet?”
I turned—and it was Marguerite.

I thought that in the shining heart
Of the deep world where jewels grow,
I filled my hands with clustered gems,
Ruby and amethyst—but No!
I woke and found two little feet—
O Marguerite, O Marguerite!

Bed-Time

I thought God called me in a dream
At last to take my heart's desire,
Fearful, I stretched my hands to fill
My sad hands with that holy fire—
Warm little heart next mine that beats,
White little soul—'Tis Marguerite's!

A Nursery Alphabet

A Nursery Alphabet

A is an apple
Red on the tree—
If only that apple
Would fall down to me!

B is a butterfly
Yellow or red,
Wave your wings butterfly
Over my head.

C is a cat
Soft as velvet or silk,
Purring old pussy-cat
Made out of milk.

D is a donkey
That never will go—
Dreadful old donkey
Why are you so slow?

E is an earwig
That lives in a peach,
With six other earwigs
With six legs on each.

A Nursery Alphabet

F is for Fairy-Tale—
Hop-o'-my-Thumb,
Jack and the Beanstalk,
And Fee-Fi-Fo-Fum!

G is a goldfish
That swims night and day—
If I were a goldfish
I'd swim right away.

H is for honey :
When summer arrives,
Bees steal it from flowers,
We steal it from hives.

I is an Indian
Savage and Red,—
When no one is looking
He chops off your head.

J is for jam
Safely tied up in pots—
O wouldn't I just like
To eat lots and lots.

A Nursery Alphabet

K is the king
Who wears sceptre and crown.
I wish I could see him,
When I go to town.

L is the lightning
Out of the sky.
We don't like the lightning
Eva and I.

M is the man—
In-the-moon, you know.
He went up there ages
And ages ago.

N is for nation,
There used to be two—
Where can the other
Have disappeared to?

O is for "Oh!"
Which expresses surprise.
It lifts up its hands,
And it opens its eyes.

A Nursery Alphabet

P is a pig
That grunts in his sty.
Bacon for breakfast
Is pig bye-and-bye.

Q is the queen
That ate bread and honey,
While the king in the counting-house
Counted his money.

R is a rat
That lives in the yard.
The life of a rat
Is peculiarly hard.

S is the sun
Shining twelve hours a day.
The moon comes along
When the sun goes away.

T is a toy
And sometimes a tart;
We play with the toy,
And eat up the tart.

A Nursery Alphabet

U is an uncle
That brings sugar plums.
I wish every day
Were the day uncle comes.

V is the violet
That comes in the spring,
When the butterflies wake,
And the little birds sing.

W, of course,
Is the wolf in the wood,
That tried to eat up
Little Red Riding Hood.

X has exceedingly little to do,
You find it in box and you find it in ox,
And I hope I shall find it
In my Christmas-box.

Y is a Yankee
Who bought up the earth,
For more than the crazy
Old planet is worth.

A Nursery Alphabet

Z is for zoo,
Full of monkeys and snakes ;
The snakes they eat frogs,
But the monkeys eat cakes.

NOV 8 1902

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 014 525 059 6 ●

RR